Band Debut Success

The Oregon College of Education band made its first appearance at the Homecoming football game. The band, under the leadership of Francis McKay, is slated for a busy year on the campus. "Early practices," states Mr. McKay, "indicate the existence of enthusiasm and talent on the part of band members." Plans are being made for the formation of several small instrumental groups, quartets, sextets, and trios.

Mr. McKay is a native of Washington and attended Washington State college, the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, New York, and the University of Washington. He received his bachelor of music degree and his master of arts degree from the University of Washington. He is a former member of the Rochester Philharmonic and the Eastman Theater orchestra. In music education since 1924, Mr. McKay has had extensive experience in all music teaching fields and has composed many scores for bands and band instruments. Many of his compositions are on the required list for the national competition festivals.

Some of his best known publications include the following titles: "Four Pieces, Suite No. 1," (brass quartet); "Intermezzo," (four trombones); "Petite Suite," (four horns in F); "Divertimento," (four horns in F); "With Gay Spirit," (four B-flat clarinets); "American Sketch," (clarinet quartet); "Dramatic Prelude," (brass sextet); "Adagio Assai and Allegro," (brass quartet).

Mr. McKay comes to Monmouth from Port Angeles, Washington, where he has been teaching instrumental music. Besides his work at the college, Mr. McKay also directs the Monmouth high school band.

Father Alcuin Guest Speaker

Father Alcuin, Catholic priest from the Good Samaritan church in Portland, was the guest speaker for CCYM on Wednesday night, October 16. The topic of his inspiring lecture was "The Catholic Faith." He aroused the interest of all who were present by his words of knowledge and sincerity.

Father Alcuin discussed religion from the viewpoint of the Catholic and explained tactfully, from his own wide experience, the differences in belief of the Catholics and Protestants. "An understanding of others' viewpoints helps us to get along happily with our fellow men," he stated.

CCYM is looking forward with anticipation to the time when Father Alcuin will again honor the group with a visit.

At the beginning of the meeting Wilma Stout, CCYM president, announced the new officers, who are: Joanne Sloan, secretary-reporter; Ardene Knutson, song leader, and Mina Zebley, program chairman.

Graduate Leaves For Germany

After traversing the United States, Mrs. Hester (Perego) Bethell, OCE alumna, will take to the high seas and Germany. Hester is that pretty, little, blonde coed you students have noticed on the campus this past spring and summer. She attended OCE in 1942 to 1945 and returned this year to receive her bachelor of science degree in education.

Bubbling over with excitement at the thought of seeing her husband again, Hester informed your correspondent that she will be living in Erlangen, suburb of Nuernberg. "My only regret is that I missed the hangings," she wailed.

Mrs. Bethell's suggestion for solving the housing situation is to move to Germany. Her husband, Lieutenant Hoyt Bethell, has furnished and redecorated a five-room flat. He states that it is much nicer than the majority of homes in America. In addition, he has secured a German maid!

Hester will leave New York some time this month, no date has been set as yet, and she should arrive in Germany the early part of November. For those students who know Hester and would like to correspond with her, her address will be: C.O. Lt. Hoyt C. Bethell, O-2095806, Hdq. 9th A.F.S.C., P. & T. Division, A.P.O. No. 66, C.O. Postmaster, New York, N.Y.

Sammy Kaye Sponsors Contest

A national amateur poetry contest, with over $1250 in cash prizes is being sponsored by Sammy Kaye, orchestra leader. The first prize will be $500, second prize $200, third prize $100. There will also be 20 prizes of $25 each.

The contest started October 1 and will close February 27, 1947, a date selected because it is the anniversary of the birth of one of America's greatest poets, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

The winning poems will be read by Sammy Kaye on his "Sunday Serenade" program, which is heard on the Pacific coast at 10:30 a.m. and will be published in the 1947 edition of the "Sunday Serenade Book of Poetry." The first prize poem will appear in Pageant Magazine.

The judges will be Kate Smith, one of the country's foremost women of today; Ted Malone, outstanding collector of American poetry and featured on the Westinghouse program; and Vernon Pope, editor of Pageant magazine.

The contest is open to everyone and entry blanks may be secured by writing Sammy Kaye's National Poetry Contest, 607 5th Avenue, New York 17, N.Y.

Freshmen Present Assembly

A half hour of comedy was presented by the freshman class at the assembly program held Tuesday, October 15, at 11 a.m. in the Campbell hall auditorium.

The assembly opened with "The Pledge to the Flag," "Star Spangled Banner," and the "OCE Hymn."

Mr. Barr, assembly committee chairman, then introduced Jerry Willma, freshman class president, who in turn introduced Tom Putnam, master of ceremonies.

The program consisted of a few musical numbers and several skits and jokes. The freshmen affording the humor were Perry Carmichael, Doris Anicker, Jerry Willma, Sam Harmon, Carol Fisher, Barbara Kirsch, and Fern Huntsinger.

Musical numbers on the program included the singing of the freshman song, "We Are Big Kids Now," by the entire class, piano solos by Phyllis Krieger and Jean Shriever, a trumpet duet by Carmen Westenhouse and Glen Hall, and a vocal solo by Shirley Jacobs.

FACULTY NEWS ITEMS

Miss Joan Seavey, dean of women, went to Corvallis Tuesday, October 15, as a guest at a meeting of the American Association of University Women in the Benton hotel. Guest speaker was Dr. Mary Mawdsley, dean of the University of British Columbia.

Mrs. Oma Belle McBee entertained at dinner on Wednesday, October 16, at her home in Independence for the following: Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Howard, Mrs. Pearl B. Heath, Miss Emma Henkle, Miss Katharine Arbuthnot, and Miss Joan Seavey.

At the faculty meeting held last week John A. Barr and Miss Ruth Denney were nominated for the position of vice-president of the faculty club. Election for this office will be held at a later date.

- Mr. Mannio has a bachelor of science degree in industrial engineering and graduated in economics while in Helsinki. He served six years in the Finnish army.

Change Seen By Alumni

This year's Homecoming was represented by graduates of many previous years but the college seemed to have undergone many changes to two of our guests who were graduates of this school just after the turn of the Century, during 1901 and 1902, respectively.

Mrs. C. A. Stringer (Louisa Lehman) graduated in 1901 and Mrs. Walter Macy (Olive M. Lambricht) was a graduate of 1902. Mrs. Stringer presented the school with three pictures taken when it was called the Oregon State Normal school. The pictures were the Oregon State Normal school men's basketball team of 1899, a YWCA group of 1898, and a scene from a play presented in 1898.

Mrs. Macy left two pictures in the alumni collection. One of these was the February, 1902, graduating class and the other was the men's basketball team of 1902. Of particular interest in the latter picture was E. S. Evenden, captain of the team, who is now Dr. Evenden on the education staff of Columbia university and one of education's leading exponents.

Mrs. Stringer and Mrs. Macy were accompanied by Mrs. Hazel (Olson) Christensen, graduate of 1923, and Queenie K. Rand, 1925 graduate. All of the ladies are now housewives, except Miss Rand who is still teaching. All of the ladies reside in McMinnville.

Textbook Shortage

Along with increased enrollment, the Oregon College of Education is having a shortage of text books. This is not unique here however as it is a situation in which the colleges of our country generally find themselves at present. The increase in enrollment was by no means an unforeseen contingency, but production and distribution of text books has been greatly retarded because of lack of materials and of man power. Text books are expected to be made available in all categories at the earliest possible date.

Yell Squad Chosen

Looks like a big year on the OCE campus with plenty of men and women, and a big sports season ahead. The student council called for yell leaders and selected a yell squad. The squad this year is composed of five girls and one boy.

One former yell leader, Willie Knapp, is back in school. The new members are Vivienne Hannah, Louise Kinney, Shirley Jacobs, Lois Gordon, and Al Wheelless.

Sigma Ep Features Speaker

Mrs. Golda Wickham, graduate of OCE in 1929 and dean of women at the University of Oregon, was guest speaker at the Sigma Epsilon Pi formal initiation of new pledges Wednesday evening, October 16, in the music room of Jessica Todd hall.

The new members who were initiated are: Miss Joan Seavey, dean of women; Miss Edna Mingus, new adviser; June Felder, Aline Mallatt, and Ruth Anderson.

Mrs. Wickham's topic was "Mountain Top Characters," referring to the Mount Rushmore memorial. "Behind every famous man, there is a woman," she stated. As future teachers, OCE coeds are leaders in civilization. A teacher has the opportunity of molding the character of the next generation. "Greatness isn't through learning but through character," Mrs. Wickham added.

Miss Mina Zebley, Sigma Epsilon Pi member and a former student of Mrs. Wickham's, sang several numbers accompanied by Betty Seidel.

Guests attending were Dr. C. A. Howard, Mrs. Pearl B. Heath, Miss Emma Henkle, Miss Henrietta Wolfer, Miss Louise Woodruff, Mrs. Oma Belle McBee, Mrs. Dorothy Jones, and Miss Katharine Arbuthnot, club adviser.

Sophomores Recognized

We are calling them "sophomore" now. Of course, we knew they were here all the time—those second-year strivers. At last the camouflage is off, however. No longer will they be called by other titles.

Beginning with the reorganization of our institution in 1911, students were graduated after two years of study at the Oregon Normal school—the designation used for a considerable time. From the date just mentioned until the 1930's, first-year students were known as "juniors," while second-year students received the appellation of "seniors."

By the late thirties it became evident that there should be a longer period devoted to teacher preparation. Accordingly, a three-year period of training was instituted. The three classes thus created were known as "freshman," "junior," and "senior." Thus, the former "seniors" became "juniors." Plans were then made for degree-granting. It was provided that those studying through a fourth year might qualify for the baccalaureate degree. Such students were called "degree seniors," when engaged in fourth-year work.

During this same period the course of study was revised to include those subjects which would prepare students for enrollment in third year courses at other colleges and universities. This two-year lower division work has enabled many veterans to set about

TOLERANCE VS. INTOLERANCE

In this universe of ours today there is much pettiness and narrow-mindedness in everyday life. Mr. or Mrs. Average Civilian meet these traits in their daily labor and social relations. Why? Because the average working civilian lives in a heterogeneous group in which an act he does in one section of the country is looked upon with tolerance and in quite a different section, with severity.

Why, then, on a college campus composed of supposedly compatible students should the same apply? There is enough intolerance in the world outside the realms of Joe College's life without allowing it to seep into his curricular and extra curricular affairs.

Who is to judge between right and wrong? Surely justice does not allow an immature student to censure another student's actions when he or she has just emerged from that safe little cocoon called home. If that ruling should apply, then why are there older, more experienced and educated men sitting in the tribunal's seats at Nuernberg?

Quoting from St. Matthew, chapter seven: "Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again. And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but considerest not the beam that is in thine own eye?"

WE ARE OPEN TO SUGGESTIONS

Much has been said for and against your school paper, the Lamron, in the past years regarding the type of news printed, the make-up of the paper, the feature columns, etc. As the new editor, I want to print what interests you students. But this will be impossible unless I have your suggestions, your criticisms, and your frank opinions.

OCE is situated in a democratic country, on a democratic campus which means there is freedom of speech and freedom of press. Freedom of speech includes your letters to the editor.

It is not possible for me to give you the type of news you want unless I know what you want; therefore, I ask each and everyone of you to please cooperate and give me your criticisms and opinions. The Lamron is open to any suggestion.

All the strength and force of man comes from his faith in things unseen. He who believes is strong; he who doubts is weak. Strong convictions precede great actions.—J. F. Clarke.

To know how to grow old is the masterwork of wisdom, and one of the most difficult chapters in the great art of living.—Amiel.

The value of a sentiment is the amount of sacrifice you are prepared to make for it.—Galsworthy.

During the last war a Harvard man got snarled up in the draft and found himself in the U. S. army. He read a notice on the company bulletin board and sniffed. "It is rather tough," he told another soldier, "to be compelled to take orders from an officer who knows no better than to end a sentence with a preposition."

The captain overheard him, and the next day the bulletin board carried the following notice: "There is in this company a certain amount of insubordination, up with which I shall not put."

"I suppose you think I'm a perfect idiot?"

"Oh, none of us is perfect."

Staff and Key
Give Rush Tea

During the past week Staff and Key members have been very busy getting the club into action. An example of their work at the Homecoming game was the sale of popcorn, apples and balloons which the crowd welcomed. All profits from these sales were turned over to the student body fund.

Monday night a rush tea was held in Jessica Todd hall's music room for the prospective Staff and Key pledges of this term. Rush teas have been traditional to Staff and Key through the past years, but always before they were supervised by Mrs. Hutchinson.

Soon all Staff and Key members will have their uniforms. Already the girls are wearing their white sweaters bearing the group's emblem. The sweaters arrived in time for the Homecoming game, but the green skirts have not yet arrived.

This following week an informal initiation will be held to welcome the initiates into the club. There, they will be given their Staff and Key bibles which will contain the lists of duties they must perform during initiation.

Campus Co-ed
Aids Blind Girl

Service to your country and to humanity are the two most honorable things any person can accomplish. We all admire Miss Mary Lovett for the service she gave to her country and to humanity while serving in the Waves. She was one of the first two women ever to teach Braille in a navy hospital. Her boot training was taken at Hunter college in New York City and from there she went to San Diego for her hospital training. The Philadelphia naval hospital became her permanent station, where she was one of 15 girls working in a ward of 50 navy and marine men.

To show their appreciation of her service to them, a group of her patients made her a large, hand-tooled leather purse, complete with cosmetic kit. She was the only one of the girls to receive this distinction.

For one year after graduation from the Oregon College of Education in 1942, Mary taught in a country school. Previous to her enlistment in the Waves in June, 1944, she taught in the Salem training school for the blind. She has now returned to the OCE campus to work for her bachelor's degree.

At the present time a 15 year old high school girl who is blind is living with her at the Winegar apartments. Miss Lovett is teaching her how to adjust herself to society. The experiment is working out quite well.

Miss Lovett's life is full and useful and her greatest satisfaction comes from helping others. The twinkle in her blue eyes is proof that she is happy and fun-loving. Her interest and zeal in her service to the blind is an inspiration to all who know her.

Campfire Head
To Be on Campus

The last regular meeting of Campfire was held Monday, October 14, at which time Miss Ruth Lautenbach, the group's adviser, spoke on "The Purposes of Campfire."

Plans were completed for the "Hair Style Show and Demonstration" scheduled for November 5 at 8 p.m. for the associated women students.

It was announced that Mrs. Ella Maxwell, head of Campfire in the Benton district, would talk at the next meeting of the group on Oct. 28. Her subject will be: "What Has Been Done in Summer Camps in Oregon." At the close of the meeting, she will interview anyone interested in summer camp jobs.

DORM NEWS

Now that the excitement of Homecoming is over, we can settle down to some honest studying. Hats off to the girls who really worked. Wilma Stout did a very nice job on the Homecoming dance. Wes Lang and his orchestra was something extra special. Joan Bolsinger deserves some praise for the fine work she did in decorating the gym for the occasion. Thanks to Avis Hudson for doing such a good job in organizing work in the clubs, to Edna Pike, social chairman, and Joanne Sloan for publicity. A special word of thanks goes to all those girls who helped on these committees to make the Homecoming a success. It was a job well done.

ARTIST

Thanks, Peggy Geertz, for the decorations you honored the dorm by displaying for Homecoming. Peggy's artistic ability is very much an asset.

TALENT SCOUTS WANTED

Talent scouts should have been on hand Tuesday morning to recognize some of the outstanding talent we have in the freshman class. Shirley Jacobs sings a nice song for any occasion. Phyllis Krieger and Jean Schreiber make piano playing look like play. Congratulations, all you freshmen, you produced a swell assembly!

HAIL AND FAREWELL

We were very happy to see all the recent alums back at Homecoming time. Among the girls were Zetta Spurling, Opal Day, Jeanne Olson, Mazie Lauderbach, Betty McGuire, Becky Beebe, V'ona Schlappi, and many others.

HOWELL HALL HOWLS

Homecoming at Howell house was quite a task but also lots of fun. In case you didn't notice our house decorations while they were up, they consisted of Burma Shave signs leading up to a grave with the following epitaph on the tomb stone: "Here lies the body of an L. and C. Pioneer." Hung on the clothes line were the letters to spell out the word "Homecoming."

Dorothy Owens was house guest of Arline Shearer, and Betty Svendsen spent the week-end with Caralee Nelson.

An added attraction and a new interest for a new or old outfit... A bib and hat ensemble designed to make you look your most winsome. Make it in felt for less than it takes to tell and in less time than you'd ever imagine. Simplicity designed (Pattern #7197) with adjustable headsize.

Fashion Flashes

by LU ROBBINS

If it's class, if it's style, if it's clever—an excellent place to look for it is on OCE coeds. This was well proved during the gala festivities of Homecoming week end.

Seen at the game Saturday afternoon were some very attractive Staff and Key members along with Collecto-Coeds. Their black skirts and white Columbia-knit sweaters were eye-catching.

The always popular black prevailed in dresses seen at Saturday night's dance. Wilma Stout was lovely in a black jersey with gold sequin trimmed neckline. Lois Gordon's red hair was accented with a black jersey, trimmed with black sequins. Her ballerina slippers fitted her costume very nicely. Also noticed in black were Joanne Sloan, whose dress was effectively trimmed with tulle, and Avis Hudson who fairly sparkled with a rhinestone set belt setting off her dress. Sleeves of green gaily decorated with black sequins was the highlight of Lois Hansman's dress.

REQUEST OF YOU

O, give me not an empty heart;
for life

Is sad enough without
That pain of emptiness to gnaw into

The mind with grief and doubt.

O, take away your smiling eyes which haunt

Me through each endless day,
For now I know that love is crushed
when you

Must leave and I must stay.

O, never say those words again that once

Could make me see how dreams
Were to be lived. Since then I've found that dreams

Can ne'er be what they seem.

O, please leave me with memories, for they

Can bring no bitter tears.
Perhaps these separating seas will hush

The longing and the fears.

HE SAYS:

Dean Comes Clean Dewey Tells All

Delmer R. Dewey is our dean of men and he comes from Kansas. Where in Kansas isn't important as all Kansas towns look alike. You know—a couple of cottonwood trees and a water tower painted with aluminum paint 20 years ago, and all this surrounded by not much of anything, out of which a railroad comes and goes.

In spite of this—or because of it—Mr. Dewey took off for Emporia (That's where W. A. White made history) to attend the Kansas State Teacher's college as a psychology major. But Mr. Dewey was a smart boy so he didn't stop at KSTC. He set his sights on Columbia university in New York from which institution he walked away with a master's degree in school administration.

Turning from the theoretical to the practical, Dean Dewey started teaching. For awhile in Kansas—longer in New York—still longer in New Jersey and then, Greeleywise, a seven year hitch with the Lewiston, Idaho, normal school.

He says about his teaching background, "I've taught all grades and all phases—rural and urban—my formal education has been from teacher schools."

Mr. Dewey is a very sociable sort of fellow. In fact, so sociable that he belongs to Acacia—a social fraternity of the Masonic Lodge. He is also a member of the Monmouth city council. Scholastically, he belongs to Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary.

His hobbies embrace fishing, golf, pinocle and being pretty well satisfied with his son, Delmer W., who is now out of the service and attending OSC.

Thespians Plan Busy Year Ahead

The OCE dramatics club, Crim-son O, is getting off to a new start this term by initiating some new talent into the club. The following students have been accepted after successful tryouts as neophytes of this club: Betty Sampson, Rose McAdams, Raymond Housinger, Annetta Grove, Elmer Spencer, Edna Pike, Helen Davis, Alice Wilkinson, Betty Buhler, Jean Shriever, A. Glen Hall, Carol Fischer, Jean Stangel, Tom Putman, Lois Gordon, Jack Cahoon, Barbara Kirsch, Richard Smith, Judith Morris, Bernice Elston, Gerald Park, Doris Anicker, Walter Ackley, and Jack Jenck.

One of the club's first tasks is to renovate the costume and property room in readiness for staging its first group of plays in the near future. Under the direction of Mr. Harding, new forensic instructor, and with new talent entering the club, plans are being made to have a very successful and pleasant year.

ARNOLD ARMS NEWS

In case you are not already aware of the fact, this old campus has a brand spankin' new organization. We refer, of course, to the new men's dormitory, known as Arnold Arms. (Sometimes referred to by the inmates as "Broken Arms.")

Arnold Arms houses about 40 fellows, gathered from all points of the compass and mostly veterans of World War II. Mr. Knox is the house adviser and Eddie Belknap was recently elected as president.

Already the group is making its presence felt, having several representatives on the OCE football team, and holding some high offices in the student government. Al Thiessen, student body president, and Jerry Wilma, freshman president, are the most prominent of these. We also expect to furnish some outstanding material for the basketball squad.

We expect to make many outstanding contributions to the year's social calendar. Our first effort is to be a dance, tentatively set for Saturday, October 25.

That about sums up the situation in this quarter. The long and the short of it is, we have a swell outfit over here and expect to do some great things before we leave the old alma mater.

WEST HOUSE

The students of West House have new faces since they unmasked themselves after the Whiskerino contest.

By the way, West House and Todd Hall are sharing the honor of the best decorated houses for last week-end's Homecoming.

Sadie Hawkins To Haunt Campus

Hear ye! Hear ye! Do you know what day November 14 is?? It is Sadie Hawkins day!!! For that day the associated women students, especially those "onfortunate, onmarried kreetures," have planned a shindig. For all onmarried kreetures it is to be a positively no-date affair; everything depends on the outcome of the "race." No cloze will be stylish except Dogpatch style. All you fortunate married kreetures are onvited too!

Conference To Be Topic

Do you know about the Campus-in-the-Woods, which is located near Toronto, Canada.

Arline Shearer, who spent one month at the campus, will relate her story at the Inter-Varsity Fellowship meeting on Monday, October 21, at 7 p.m. in room 22 of Campbell hall. She will tell of the religious and social activities carried on during the month of August. There were over 100 students in attendance from various campuses in the United States and Canada and many notable speakers were also present at this conference.

Further plans for the IVCF retreat near Forest Grove, November 15-17, will be discussed, business reports will be given, and there will be a song fest at the close of the hour.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend this meeting.

obtaining the education necessary to qualify them for taking up their actual professional training.

The maintenance of a fourth year of college work can no longer seem experimental or tentative. The scholastic year of 1946-47 is now well under way and a sophomore class has been acknowledged on the roster.

We expect a lot from the sophomores. We hope that the sophomore class will set a record of scholastic, athletic, and social achievement which will stand through the years as an inspiring goal for all the sophomore classes to come.

Welcome, sophomores!

Phi Beta Sigma Installs Officers

Amid the pungent odors of fried chicken and steaming coffee, members of Phi Beta Sigma turned their attention to formulating the policy and business of this busy activity for the coming year.

The resignation of Robert Weaver was accepted who, due to pressing problems requiring his attention elsewhere, was no longer able to carry on in the aforementioned capacity. Clarence Irving, vice-president, was elevated to president. Marjorie Rieck was elected vice-president to fill the vacancy. A quota of 10 new members for the coming term was approved and a tentative list of eligible individuals acted on.

After the termination of the business session, food and entertainment again became the center of attraction. Food, however, seemed the dominant factor as members "fell to" at a bounteous supply of sumptuous edibles so amply furnished and prepared by Miss Emma Henkle, the Phi Beta Sigma adviser.

Homecoming Game Won By Pioneers

Lewis and Clark's Pioneers cast a damper on the OCE Homecoming, when they whipped the Wolves 19-6 here Saturday, Oct. 12, in a rough-house gridiron tussle before a near capacity crowd.

The Pioneers drew first blood, as Ellmers, fullback, caught an OCE punt on the 50-yard line and raced down the east sidelines to score standing up. McCrae place-kicked the extra point for a 7-0 lead.

In the second period the Pioneers were forced to kick from their 28 yard line. Signer dropped back to punt but Padberg, Wolf right tackle, broke through, blocked the punt, grabbed it in mid-air, and scampered over for a touchdown. Harris' conversion try was wide of the uprights and Lewis and Clark led 7-6 at half-time.

The Portlanders scored in the third quarter when McCrae gathered in the leather after a blocked kick, and ran for a second score. The Wolves smeared the conversion attempt. The count stayed at 13-6 until, with three minutes left to play in the contest, Todd, Pioneer half, tossed a pass toward the end zone. Pollard, towering six foot five inch end, reached up and caught the ball, while two Wolf defenders tried desperately to break up the play. That was the final scoring of the day, and the Pioneers went back to Portland with a 19-6 victory.

Surprised by a five-man line, the Wolves could not maintain an offensive drive good enough to become victorious. On the defensive side of the picture, the hard tackling by Crook in the backfield, and Padberg in the line, were especially outstanding.

Starting line-ups:

| OCE | | L. & C. |

The REAL THING

by W. B. Stanley, Sports Editor

The fundamentals of football, namely blocking and tackling, are what it takes to win football games. Any team that is solid in these fundamentals will always give a good account of itself on the field. In the Lewis and Clark contest here, OCE had one of those sour days when the blocking and tackling looked shabby.

† † † †

Injuries to Padberg, tackle; Winegar, center; and Harmon, guard, will make the Wolf line a lot weaker when OCE tangles with the strong Southern Oregon eleven. The game at Ashland will be history by the time this article is in print, but most of the experts who gaze into the future, say that the Ashland club is the favorite.

† † † †

OCE will travel to LaGrande to play Eastern Oregon college Saturday night, November 2, in a contest that will find some of the Wolf gridders facing players they knew in high school. Padberg, Davis, and Stanley call eastern Oregon their home, so the trip to LaGrande will be nothing new to them. Hamilton, fullback from Salem, also knows LaGrande, for it was his home town for a number of years.

† † † †

The Eastern Oregon Mountaineers field a squad that boasts a backfield which averages around 190 pounds! Esseltyn, Mountaineer fullback, is the heftiest lad at a mere 210! James "Butch" O'Connor, captain of the 1941 football team here, scouted the Mountaineers when they lost to Oregon State's junior varsity 34-0 a week ago. "Butch" informed us that the Mountaineers showed a fine passing attack.

If we can evade Old Man Injury the rest of the season, the team will be that much better.

Football Season Is Under Way

Football went into its third week of play as many teams raced up and down the field at a fast pace. Such great teams as Notre Dame, Army, Oregon, Alabama, UCLA, and Texas still remained in the undefeated column. Texas was hard-pressed to win over a great Oklahoma team. In previous contests, Texas has stormed over their opposition with relentless fury, but they were lucky last week to eke out a 20-13 score. The powerful Army team won its 22nd victory by scoring a 20-13 win over Michigan. Notre Dame easily won over Purdue by a score of 46-6. UCLA gained momentum by scoring an impressive win over Stanford to the tune of 26-6. Oregon State proved to be the team to watch in the future, because of their 6-0 win over USC. Oregon State is improving fast and should rate high in the coast conference as the season goes on. Oregon won an easy victory over Montana, defeating them 34-0. Oregon has a good team but as yet has not been tested by the better coast teams.
